

CSSGJ Public Seminar Programme

Spring 2023

- Monday, 6 February, 6pm
Held via Zoom Adam Morton, University of Sydney (Australia)
Mainstreaming Marxism: on the anarchic structure of world economy
- Monday, 13 February, 6pm
Held via Zoom Sara de Jong, University of York (UK)
Brokers betrayed: The afterlife of Afghan interpreters employed by western armies
- Monday, 20 February, 6pm
Held via Zoom River Butterworth, SU Education Officer at Nottingham University (UK)
Demilitarise UoN: Why the University is not committed to human rights
- Monday, 27 February, 6pm
Held via Zoom Sam King, author and researcher of imperialism (Australia)
Why rich countries stay rich and poor countries poor: the labour theory of contemporary imperialism
- Monday, 13 March, 6pm
Held via Zoom Amanda Latimer, Kingston University (UK)
The Dialectics of Dependency
- Monday, 27 March, 6pm
Held via Zoom Tony Burns, University of Nottingham (UK)
Marx's Theory of Exploitation in Capital

EASTER BREAK

- Monday, 15 May, 6pm
Held via Zoom Sarrah Kassem, University of Tübingen (Germany)
Work and Alienation in the Platform Economy: Amazon and the Power of Organization
- Monday, 29 May, 6pm
Held via Zoom John Holmwood, University of Nottingham (UK)
Preventing participation. How the UK government's counter-extremism strategy undermines civil society and democratic freedoms
- Monday, 12 June, 6pm
Held via Zoom Oliver Dodd, University of Nottingham, (UK)
The Origins of the FARC-EP and the Civil War in Colombia

All CSSGJ talks will take place at 6pm UK time and will be held via Zoom.

For a free ticket, register at <http://cssgjnotts.eventbrite.com>. Participation is free, but considering that CSSGJ is an independent, self-financing research centre, small financial contributions are very welcome.

Our website can be found at <http://CSSGJ.org>, which also facilitates access to video recordings of past events via our YouTube Channel.